

12th October 2016

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the British Radiosurgery Society, we should cordially like to invite you to our fourth Annual Meeting, to be held on 28th March 2017 in Oxford in advance of the SBNS Meeting. Please visit the SBNS Oxford 2017 website for additional information.

Since recent re-commissioning of Stereotactic Radiosurgery Services intra-cranial as well as SABR by NHSE it is clear that this field will continue to expand. We are in the excellent position of having different platforms commissioned which will give us a wealth of data, information and experience, which should be shared.

We established the Society to bring together interested professionals in order to exchange experiences, stimulate dialogue, and improve outcome in patients who often harbour the most challenging pathological conditions. The Society is open to clinicians (treating or referring), physicists, radiographers, technicians and all other staff who provide these services, as well as to those who do not currently offer such services themselves, but whose patients we help with our contribution. We also welcome commissioners of this specialised service, believing it to be essential that they should be properly informed about this rapidly growing field.

Please find the enclosed programme of the fourth Annual Meeting; we hope many of you will be able to attend. Finally, it is important that we have a good idea of numbers attending, in advance of the event itself – there is no fee or charge involved, as we are adequately sponsored independently, but logistic and catering requirements do need to be properly planned. We would therefore be very grateful if you could confirm your intention to attend by e-mail to:

radatz@blueyonder.co.uk

We look forward to welcoming you to Oxford in March.

Yours Faithfully,

Matthias Radatz FRCS MD
